Have you ever heard of Halloween Town? Well, if you have not this is the story for you. Halloween Town is a place where every day is Halloween. The queen of Halloween Town was a monster; however she was no ordinary monster at all. She was the most beautiful creature in the town. This monster had skin that was light pink and hair like the rainbow. Every day she wears a load of makeup such as bright red lips and rosy red cheeks like Santa Clause. Her name was Beauty Bat. She was born in an underwater cave and had a seahorse for a pet. She hates the hot sun and the dirty rain because the sun dries her skin, and the rain dreadfully washes her makeup away. One day she was at the Macy's trying to find the perfect plum purple eye shadow. When she had just found the right one the alarms started to wail louder than she ever thought she ever thought possible. She got so scared, she dropped her makeup and accidentally casted a spell to take her to the mortal world! After a few minutes, she realized she was not in Halloween Town anymore. She used her tracking device to see if by any chance the mayor had taken a trip to the mortal world himself. And sure enough he had. He as wondering around Central Park and he used a spell that went something like this:

Take us back to Halloween Town,

Take us down, down, down.

And there they were safe and sound at home. Well, did you enjoy your story of Halloween Town's queen?
